OTTERBOX PROTECTION for the

BlackBerry Curve 9220 Smartphone

Designers at OtterBox create a number of concept renderings that feature different stylistic treatments with minor variations in functionality. The concept that best matches the experience of the device with intuitive functionality gets selected. By varying appropriate textures, a visual bond is created between the device and the case. Incorporating innovative engineering, the case offers intuitive full-functionality of the device while providing great protection — a true marriage of form, fit and function.

The OtterBox Commuter Series offers a semi-rugged case solution, combining tough protection with streamlined style. The innovative and customized design allows complete interaction with all device functionality through the case, so it won't slow you down.
